

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A probe pin cleaning device is generally composed of a cleaning container having a bottom-having box shape, which
5 contains cleaning solution, a stay that is disposed on the inner bottom of this cleaning container and horizontally supports a pin board in the state where a probe pin is faced downward, an external box that has an upper opening fringe supporting the fringe of the upper opening of the above-mentioned cleaning container
10 through a shock absorber, and an ultrasonic vibration generator: